The Voice on the Net Coalition Announces New Board Members, Officers and Members

The Voice on the Net Coalition (VON), the only trade association dedicated to advocating regulatory policies that promote and advance IP-enabled communications, today announced its new Board of Directors and officers for 2010-2011 and the addition of two new members.

The new board members are Hank Hultquist – AT&T; Jeff Campbell – Cisco; Rick Whitt – Google; Ellen Schmidt – iBasis; Paula Boyd – Microsoft; Caitlin Clark-Zigmond – New Global Telecom; Staci Pies – Skype; Amy Wolverton – T-Mobile; and Brendan Kasper – Vonage.

The new officers are Caitlin Clark Zigmond – Chairman; Rick Whitt – President; Ellen Schmidt – Secretary; Brendan Kasper – Treasurer; Amy Wolverton – VP – Federal Regulatory; Staci Pies – VP, State Regulatory; and Kevin Minsky, Microsoft – VP, International Regulatory.

The two new members are Vonage and Broadvox, both national VoIP providers. They join existing members AT&T, Cisco, Google, iBasis, Microsoft, New Global Telecom, Skype, T-Mobile, Vonage and Yahoo. VON Coalition members are developing and delivering, the voice, video and data communications applications that are used over the Internet.

“I look forward to working with our new board, officers and members on the important regulatory issues that will be confronting the IP communications industry this year,” VON Executive Director Glenn Richards said. “Our diverse membership and unique focus on IP communications allows us to bring a fresh perspective to the important policy debates that will shape our industry for the next decade.”
